Course description and objectives

More than ever, the service/tourism/hospitality industries are struggling to attract and retain their talents despite the economic recession. Business world talks a lot about “brand employer, empowerment, slashing, coaching, people experience, soft skills, etc.” as, indeed, Human Resources (“HR”) must evolve & innovate to either improve performance or just survive!

HR needs to go to the next level. Initially it was the personnel department then companies realized it needed to transform this to something more human centric and it became the HR department. Now is the time to evolve again.

As potential future managers / executives / entrepreneurs, the way you will handle human capital, can either make you reach the highest levels or stop your professional advancement as you would reach a glass ceiling. Why? Because even if it does not seem important now or at the beginning of your carrier – Human Resources Management (“HRM”), might be the most complex & time-consuming task you will have to perform. Why? Because hard skills only will make you great professionals, but not a great leader, if you can’t build a great team around you.

Worldwide trend is the globalization / standardization, but fortunately we are not there yet! We are lucky to still live in a multicultural environment. As future leader your playground will be multinational (firms, colleagues, customers) thus you also need to prepare yourself for managing people with different mindsets & backgrounds.

As a future inspiring leader, like it or not, your day-to-day will be human capital centric. So, prepare yourself by choosing this course!

Prerequisites

No specific pre-requisite. You just need to enjoy learning & playing at the same time!

Learning outcomes

This course aims to provide you with a 360° overview of human capital management within a multicultural organization. It will follow the employee journey main steps (recruiting, onboarding, develop, retention and exit) and the key interactions with human resources department.

You will better discover yourself, your values, your personality and the projection of your ideal professional life. We will also see how to:

- Use your management style to become a successful and inspiring leader;
- Identify and build a strong team around you;
- Empower and motivate them using innovative management techniques.
- Manage a team in a multicultural environment.

Everything you will learn here will help you both your personal and professional lives.

Assignments and grading

- 50% continuous assessment based on your active participation in class and on your homeworks.
- 50% final case study per group in front of a Jury (20-30' presentation + 10' Q&A). The groups and subjects will be chosen at the end of the first course.

The numerical grade distribution will dictate the final grade. The passing grade for a course is 10/20.

Class participation: Active class participation – this is what makes classes lively and instructive. Come on time and prepared. Class participation is based on quality of comments, not quantity.

Exam policy: In the exam, students will not be allowed to bring any document (except if allowed by the lecturer). Unexcused absences from exams or failure to submit cases will result in zero grades in the calculation of numerical averages. Exams are collected at the end of examination periods.

Lecturer's biography

French born and mother of 2 lovely monsters. I studied in Dauphine and ESSEC. I speak 4 languages. After starting my carrier in finance & consulting in Ernst & Young TAS, I quickly joined the services industry - because I am passionate about the human capital - and the hotel industry is full of people and talent.

I was Vice President of International Operations in Louvre Hotels Group (French based Hospitality Group +11 brands / +40 countries & subsidiary of Jing Jang).

There, I oversaw:

- Our 22 Regional Offices (+40 countries / +300 hotels / +4500 employees);
- The post-acquisition & integration department;
- The international franchise & management contracts; and
- The Method & Process department.

One of my top priorities was to improve the brands quality and consistency thus I spend a lot of time in building and transferring know-how to my multinational colleagues. Another top priority was to work on the digitalization of our operational services in order to increase our efficiency optimizing the resources.

I was afterwards Chief Development Officer in Deutsche Hospitality (German Hospitality Group owner of Steigenberger & Intercity Brands & subsidiary of H-World / +120 hotels / 13 countries / 9 Direct Reports)

There I was part of the Executive Committee and in charge of the:

- Corporate Development worldwide for the 8 brands. From Franchise to Lease agreements;
- Feasibility department assessing the long-term risk and profitability of a new contract; and
- Franchise Operations department, building & transferring know-how to the hotels.
